Strategizing for Success Model

CoachInc.com has developed a model that is a simplification of the strategizing process, and a way to visually identify the components of good strategizing with coachees. It is a comprehensive model which addresses all the basic needs of strategizing for success. When followed, this model can help a coachee create simple yet highly effective strategies for any goal or desired outcome in life. Individuals, couples, small teams, and large groups can use this model with success.
